

Characteristics of Sex and Love Addiction

1. Having few healthy boundaries, we become sexually involved with and/or emotionally attached to people without knowing them.
2. Fearing abandonment and loneliness, we stay in and return to painful, destructive relationships, concealing our dependency needs from ourselves and others, growing more isolated and alienated from friends and loved ones, ourselves and God.
3. Fearing emotional and/or sexual deprivation, we compulsively pursue and involve ourselves in one relationship after another, sometimes having more than one sexual or emotional liaison at a time.
4. We confuse love with neediness, physical and sexual attraction, pity and/or the need to rescue or be rescued.
5. We feel empty and incomplete when we are alone. Even though we fear intimacy and commitment, we continually search for relationships and sexual contacts.
6. We sexualize stress, guilt, loneliness, anger, shame, fear, and envy. We use sex or emotional dependence as a substitute for nurturing care and support.
7. We use sex and emotional involvement to manipulate and control others.
8. We become immobilized or seriously distracted by romantic or sexual obsessions or fantasies.
9. We avoid responsibility for ourselves by attaching ourselves to people who are emotionally unavailable.
10. We stay enslaved to emotional dependency, romantic intrigue, or compulsive sexual activities.
11. To avoid feeling vulnerable, we may retreat from all intimate involvement, mistaking sexual and emotional anorexia as a sign of recovery.
12. We assign magical qualities to others. We idealize and pursuing them, then blaming them for not fulfilling our fantasies and expectations.

History

Started in 1976, Sex and Love Addicts Anonymous (SLAA) is a 12-step, 12-tradition oriented fellowship based on the model pioneered by Alcoholics Anonymous.

The first members came together when they realized that sex, romantic intrigue and dependency were affecting their lives in the same ways as their chemical addictions had. They found that the compulsion to continue with promiscuous sex or to return over and over to destructive relationships alone could not be controlled by willpower alone.

Although SLAA was started by recovering alcoholics and is modeled after AA, Meetings are open to any person who believes he/she has this problem whether having previously suffered from a chemical addiction or not. The only qualification for SLAA membership is the desire to stop living out a pattern of sex and love addiction.

As a fellowship, SLAA has no opinion on outside issues and seeks no controversy. SLAA is not affiliated with any other organizations, movements or causes, either religious or secular. We are, however; united in a common focus: dealing with our addictive sexual and emotional behavior. We find a common denominator in our obsessive/compulsive patterns which transcends any personal differences of sexual orientation or gender identity.

Members include both those who suffer from a compulsive need for sex and those with a desperate attachment to one person. What all members have in common is an obsessive/compulsive pattern, either sexual or emotional (or both), in which relationships or activities have become increasingly destructive to all areas of their lives: career, family, and sense of self- respect.
